tion Counsel's Opinion.

The Street-Cleaning Commissioner Told How He Must Act.

Corporation Counsel Clark has for warded to Comptroller Fitch his formal opinion as to the legality of the contract recently made by Street-Cleaning Com-missioner Andrews with John D. Dalley for towing deck scows to Riker's Island and unloading them there. The contract fixed Dailey's compensation at 12 cents per cubic yard for the contents of each scow, and was to be annulled and cancelled at the option of the Commissioner upon thirty days' notice in writing.

In his opinion, which is dated Jan. 25, Corporation Counsel Clark says that work to be done is that description of work which in the statute is called al disposition;' and since the contract may not be absolutely determined except by a notice of thirty days, that period is the minimum period of its duration." Mr. Clark then continues:

streets may require, all street sweepings, ashies and garbage.

1. Section 709 of the Consolidation act provides: "Baid Commissioner shall have power to enter into contracts with responsible persons and parties for the final disposition, for periods not exceeding five years, of all or any part of said aftect sweepings, ashes or garbage when collected, provided always, that such contract shall be approved as to terms and conditions by the Board of Estimate and Apportionment. All contrasts shall be entered into on behalf of the city by the Commissioner with adequate security. He shall advertise for proposals in such newspapers in the city as he may designate, not exceeding three in number for ten days, to perform the work in such form and on such terms and conditions as he may prescribe. Such proposals may be for the performance of all or such part or portion of the work as he shall require. * From the work as he shall require. * From the proposals received he may select the bid or bids, the exceptance of which will, in his ludgment, best secure the effectual performance of the work, or he may reject any or all of said bids. I understand that, under the scheme of the commissioner of Street Cleaning, after the averpings, &c., have been collected, as inclined within, the terms "final disposition."

In order to comply with section 709 of the Commissioner with a period, the Commissioner must proceed as follows:

First—He must secure the approval of the terms First—He must secure the approval of the terms.

Cond—He must advertise for proposals in such papers in the city as he may designate, not ding three in number, for ten days, its—He must require adequate security and a sit, as specified in the statute, in the From proposals received, pursuant to advertisement, he may select the bid which is judgment will best secure the efficient persons of the work, and contract with such bid or he may reject all the bids and re-advertisement.

I therefore advise you that the proposed contract invalid, and should not be approved. I therefore advise you that the proposed contract is invalid, and should not be approved.

The illegality of Dalley's private snap at the public expense was first exposed by "The Evening World." The Corporation Counsel sustained what "The Evening World's aid: That Commissioner Andrews had no right to make a private agreement with one contractor to the exclusion of all other contractors. Through "The Evening World's" efforts thousands of dollars will be saved to the city and the taxpayers. There are contractors who are willing to take Dalley's contract for asarly one-half what he was to be paid, and as the first disposition fund amounts to nearly $400,000. It may be seen what a good thing Dalley would have had, thanks to Mr. Andrews.

"I indersed some notes for a certain party and gave a mortgage on my house as security," said Mr. Post to an "Evening World" reporter. "Now, when these notes became due last November, my co-indorser came to me and said that the maker of the note could have to pay in his stead. He told me also that the Garfield National Bank would allow us time to pay if we gave a honus of $300. I said: "Go ahead. "I want revenge," she said, "and you must help me to obtain it. Do you know that Lepofsky is a thief?"

"What" exclaimed Mr. Remer. "Madam, you have insulted one of my most faithful employees. I would trust my life in his keeping.

"Bah," said the woman. "Do you think that I would call him a thief without proof? Oh, no. I'm not such a fool. Now you listen to me and I will tell you how your trusted employee has been robbing you since he entered your employ."

The young woman then made some startling revelations. Mr. Remer would not believe her. Finally she volunteered to show him some of the stolen goods.

She took Mr. Remer to 19 Allen street,

Remer said he mised over $2,000 worth of goods.

He hurried to the Madison street police station, where he lodged his complaint, Detective Herclich accompanied him to his place or business.

"Lepefsky," said Remer, as he walked up to him, "I have discovered the thief."

"That's good news," replied Lepofsky, with a smile. "Who is it?"
